Cleo Eshun-Wilson Educational & Child Psychologist

Cleo Eshun Wilson is an Educational and Child Psychologist who has supported children of all ages and their families. Cleo jokingly admits to finding her calling when as a child, she first became acquainted with the intuit/psychologist, Dana, on “Star Trek” who intuitively assisted people with their life's struggles. She too wanted insight into the inner workings of the human psyche.

As an educational psychologist Cleo has a strong background in assessments and her passion is working with children 2-17 years of age. She uses an eclectic approach to therapy and her expertise is conducting:

- Cognitive (IQ) assessments
- ASD assessments
- Dyslexia testing
- Giftedness, learning difficulty and school-readiness assessments
- Individual and group scholastic testing
- Subject choice and vocational counselling as well as behavioural modification and psychological therapy for emotional issues.

Having worked as a school guidance counsellor for several years, Cleo also has experience working with both primary and secondary students on life skills and specific issues such as substance problems, sexual abuse and violence. In this role, Cleo also supported teaching staff and later served as an acting Principal.

After having her own children, communication and development issues in infancy and early childhood became a focus of her professional interest. Cleo has gained additional qualifications in Play Therapy and developed further skills in the assessment and management of Autistic Spectrum Disorders.

In addition to conducting assessments, Cleo provides individual and family counselling and supports parents and carers with behaviour management, guidance during periods of grief and loss, separation and family stress.

She has vast experience with children who have additional needs and helps families to develop positive relationships.

To create the best possible support platform for your child, she liaises with schools, teachers, paediatrician's and allied health practitioners. Finding quick yet lasting solutions for your child and family is her heart felt goal.
