Edwin Xu
Therapy Assistant

Edwin is a passionate psychology student currently undertaking his bachelors at Macquarie University. He hopes to one day practice as a clinical psychologist, working alongside hospitals in supporting patients of all ages who have undergone emotionally significant medical diagnoses and treatments.

Edwin has worked for almost 3 years in the healthcare industry across many roles at Royal Prince Alfred hospital, often requiring compassionate care towards patients across many demographics and abilities and as such, he has developed an empathetic yet professional attitude.

He hopes to further expand his experience as a therapy assistant, working under the guidance of an amazing team of certified psychologists and allied health professionals.

Outside of work and university studies, Edwin follows his keen sense of adventure and enjoys a multitude of activities including paddle boarding, hiking and bouldering as well as honing his skills playing soccer and piano.

He is always up for the challenge and experience of trying something new and loves to further his knowledge in all regards.
